The Kapstream process

Research and analysis

Kapstream's process begins with an analysis of key global economic trends. Views are developed during quarterly economic roundtable sessions with leading members of the fixed income community. Next, the team consider country specific factors and market expectations, before moving on to identify specific opportunities.

Risk management

Constant monitoring and active mitigation of the primary risks present in client portfolios – the sensitivity to a change in headline interest rates, the threat of default, and market liquidity – is integral to ensuring Kapstream maintains a prudent balance between overall portfolio risk and return.

Capital stability

At Kapstream's heart is an unwavering focus on protecting the value of their clients' investments, making active use of a wide range of techniques to do so when risk of loss threatens.

Dynamic beta, portable alpha

Kapstream divides each portfolio into beta and alpha components and uses innovative strategies to actively manage both. They dynamically allocate the beta component across global fixed interest markets, constantly evaluating and adjusting the Fund's exposure in response to the changing environment. They then overlay alpha strategies to enhance returns, often using futures, options, swaps and credit default swaps.

About Kapstream Capital

Kapstream Capital was founded on a simple belief; that by removing the constraints inherent in conventional benchmark-relative fixed income portfolio strategies, and by setting absolute return targets and absolute risk limits, portfolios could be constructed using predominantly investment grade assets that more closely met the true requirements of investors in preserving capital and delivering consistent and positive absolute returns.

Kapstream combines capital preservation techniques with unconstrained portfolio management skills in the pursuit of stable, absolute returns.
